Atlanta Business Leader Honored by International Company

Arthur Schoeck receives 3rd consecutive TTI Community Service Award

Atlanta, GA (Feb. 10, 2011) – Arthur Schoeck, Founder and CEO of Data Dome, INC., was recently honored for the third year in a row by Target Training International (TTI) as the recipient of the Chairman’s Award for Services to the Community at the TTI Winners’ Conference in Scottsdale, Ariz.

As in the two previous years, TTI presented the award to Schoeck for his ongoing dedication to community service initiatives. Schoeck has offered his time and expertise as a mentor to college students. His work has helped many to identify their skills and behavioral styles and guide them toward making important choices about their career goals.

Bill Bonnstetter, Chairman of TTI, said that along with several fellow TTI Value Added Associates, “...Arthur Schoeck demonstrates an unflinching devotion to contributing to society by delivering the power of TTI’s assessments to those positively influencing the community”.

“I am honored and humbled to once again receive this award. It is satisfying to know that the work and assessment tools I’ve been able to provide have helped students to open their eyes to self knowledge and their individual behavioral styles.” Schoeck said.
