Atlanta Business Leader Honored by International Company

Arthur Schoeck receives 2nd consecutive TTI Community Service Award

Atlanta, GA (Feb. 10, 2010) – Arthur Schoeck, Founder and CEO of Data Dome, INC., was recently honored for the second year in a row by Target Training International (TTI) as the recipient of the Chairman’s Award for Services to the Community at the TTI Winners’ Conference in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Echoing last year, TTI presented the award to Schoeck for his continued dedication to community service initiatives. Schoeck has offered his time and expertise to mentor college students, helping them identify their skills and behavioral styles and guide them toward alignment with their career goals.

Bill Bonnstetter, Chairman of TTI, said that along with several fellow TTI Value Added Associates, “...Arthur Schoeck demonstrates a devotion to contributing to society by delivering the power of TTI’s assessments to those positively influencing the community”.

“It is truly an honor to receive this award. I’m humbled to know that the work and assessment tools I’ve provided have helped students to lay a foundation for their careers by opening their eyes to self knowledge and their individual behavioral styles.” Schoeck said.

About Data Dome Inc.: At Data Dome we believe that the “one size fits all” approach to people simply won’t get you the results you need.
